

Weatherman Scorns Followers Of Groundhog On 'His Day'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
While rival "weather capitals of the world" in Pennsylvania ganged up today on a little animal with a big reputation, the staid and stuffy U. S. Weather Bureau discredited the groundhog as a competent forecaster.

If the groundhog, come Feb. 2, uncurling from his warmth and taking a peek at daylight, sees his shadow, he ducks back into his hole; that means six more weeks of winter. If he sees no trace of shadow, he grows bold and ventures into the open. That guarantees an early spring.

Pennsylvania has four centers of this higher science, each swearing to be top banana and each crushingly scornful of the other fellow's claims. Only in Pennsylvania, they all assert, does the true groundhog cult flourish.

The Punxsutawney club in northwestern Pennsylvania boasts of a bid edge, on seniority alone. Ever since 1898 its members have traipsed up Canoe Ridge in the foothills of the Alleghenies and stationed themselves on Gobbler's Knob to watch and record the groundhog's behavior.

But to the Slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs of Quarryville, in Lancaster County, the western seers are "the upstart gang of Gobbler's Knob."

The Slumbering Lodge has been at it for only 48 years. By its own avowals, however, it makes up for that relative newness in prestige and elaboration. This society says its membership takes in eminent men in most of the professions; that it has been cited for distinguished service by the International Order of Groundhog Greeters; and that nobody can outdo it in fancy costumes.

Third of the groundhog groups also on the prowl early, is the uncompromisingly Pennsylvania Dutch clan of the Allentown area which goes by the name of "Grundsow Lodge Number Ains on Da Lechaw," meaning "No. 1 on the Lehigh," or more to the point, "Anything you can do we can do better."

Finally, Greater Philadelphia groundhoggishers bank heavily on their famed zoo. Unhappily, Emmie, the specimen that was coached for the big occasion, died less than 48 hours ago. The zoo has other groundhogs, though, including the notorious one-eyed Connelly, who doesn't give a hoot about shade or shadow but just wants to be let alone.

As for the snooty U. S. Weather Bureau, its official forecasters are a bit more lenient toward weather proverbs than toward the wily woodchuck. They declare:

"The trouble with weather proverbs is not so much that they're all wrong but that they are not all right for all times in all places."

Which, of course, is just about what some folks say about the Weather Bureau.

The inapplicability of some weather sayings to our land is obvious, says the bureau, because many of the most popular ones originated thousands of years ago in North Africa and, later, in Europe.

Locality is of utmost importance in considering weather proverbs, it seems.

For instance, the Weather Bureau advises that on the Pacific Coast the moisture bearing winds blow in from the west and the southwest. On the other hand, in the east they come from the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic.

Therefore, "A western wind carrieth water in his hand" and "When the east wind toucheth it shall wither" would apply only to the West Coast.

But, east of the Rockies, the more applicable proverb would be: "When the wind is in the west the weather is always best."

One of the more popular sayings is "the south wind warms the aged." Actually, says the Weather Bureau, the south wind "is about the wettest, stormiest and generally least pleasant of winds in our states bordering the Gulf of Mexico."

The Weather Bureau says the groundhog myth is plain bunk. Nevertheless, the official opinion added that our furry friend probably will stay out in most of the Midwest and the East—and get his nose mighty cold in the

FDR's Famous Colin Kelly Letter Is Delivered To Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—A famous letter Franklin D. Roosevelt wrote 10 days after the 1941 Pearl Harbor attack to "The President of the United States in 1956" has been delivered to Dwight Eisenhower.

The World War II President's letter asked consideration for "the merits of a young American of goodly heritage, Colin P. Kelly III, for appointment as a cadet in the United States military academy at West Point."

Young Kelly, then an infant and

Yank Skaters Sweep Olympic Gold Medals

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—Plucky Tenley Albright fought back the pain of an injured leg to win the Olympic women's figure skating championship today and gave the United States a sweep of individual honors in the event.

Hayes Alan Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo., won the men's title yesterday in a 1-2-3 American sweep.

Miss Albright, a 20-year-old pre-medical student who conquered an attack of polio as a child, is the first American woman to become a figure skating queen.

This is the first time in 36 years that one nation has made a sweep of both men's and women's competitions. Sweden last did it in 1920.

Carol Heiss, 16, from Ozono Park, N. Y., won shouts from the crowd for her brilliant performance too. But graceful Tenley, reigning world champion, could not be beaten.

Miss Albright, from Newton Center, Mass., had gone into today's free skating with a lead built up in the school figures skated earlier.

Thus the United States has its second gold medal of the 1956 winter Olympics.

Shortened Draft Program Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—More young men may be drafted to serve for shorter periods in a temporary move to bolster the lagging ready reserve program.

Secretary of Defense Wilson disclosed the tentative plan yesterday. Still under discussion, it would cut from 24 to 18 months the required active service of as many as 100,000 present draftees who agree to remain in the ready reserve for at least 2 1/2 years.

Dull Weather Greet's Ohio's Mr. Groundhog

Midwinter Storms Hit Much Of Nation As Cold Wave Continues

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If Mr. Groundhog had anything to do with today's weather in Ohio, he ought to be skinned.

That was the reaction of many an Ohioan on this Feb. 2 (Groundhog Day), a dismal, chilling and wholly unpleasant day.

It was that way in many parts of the nation as midwinter storms and cold plagued broad areas.

Rain drizzled down on Ohio, melting a snow blanket in the northern part of the state.

Cleveland, which had 7 inches of snow on the ground Tuesday morning, got another 1.2 inches last night, but the rain and rise in temperature had thinned the cover to a net of about 5 inches today.

With the thermometer at 35 degrees and expected to rise to 39 before beginning a drop to around 25 tonight, the heavily traveled downtown Cleveland streets had small rivers of slush at the curbs.

5 Men Questioned In Narcotic Probe

COLUMBUS (AP)—The sheriff's office has arrested five men for questioning in connection with narcotics peddling in Columbus.

Three were arrested Tuesday night in company with Deputy Sheriff Donald Spafford who had joined them as an undercover agent. The other two were picked up in New Rome west of Columbus, last midnight.

Spafford said both groups were returning from narcotics buying trips to Dayton.

None of the men has been charged. They were to be questioned today in county jail.

Nehru Urges OK Of China In U. N.

BANGALORE, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru appealed today for admission of Communist China and Outer Mongolia to the U.N. Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East (ECAFE).

Opening the 12th annual session of the ECAFE conference, Nehru said he found it strange the conference is trying to solve Asia's economic problems without the presence of certain nations "including that country called China."

Benson Says McKay Good Candidate

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson militantly defended administration farm policies and put in a plug for a Cabinet colleague as a possible senatorial candidate during a stopover here last night.

Benson said Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay, former Oregon governor, was the Republican party's best hope of capturing the seat now held by Sen. Morse (D-Ore).

House Gives Its OK To A-Powered Ship

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first move into atomic power for surface ships of the U. S. Navy is authorized in a bill passed by the House 358-3.

The measure, passed yesterday, provides for an 11,000-ton cruiser powered by a nuclear engine and armed with guided missiles. The vessel may be the world's first surface craft driven by the energy of the split atom.

In addition, the new $1 1/2 billion Navy shipbuilding program covers six more atom-powered submarines to join the eight already built or authorized, and provides for a start on a nuclear power plant for an aircraft carrier.

Anti-Lausche Candidate Seeks Role As Ohio's Democrat 'Favorite Son'

COLUMBUS (AP)—William R. Thom of Canton, a former congressman, today obtained petitions to run in the May 8 primary for election as an anti-Lausche delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

Thom said independent Democrats in the Sixteenth Congressional District asked him to run for delegate pledged to himself as a "favorite son" candidate for President. He emphasized that he was not a candidate for President.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche was expected to announce today or tomorrow a slate of delegate candidates pledged to him as "favorite son" candidate for President.

Another Bomb Blast Marks Racial Debate Deep In Dixie

ATLANTA (AP)—Ingredients from court and Legislature simmered uneasily today in the South's racial caldron, kindled anew by a bomb blast in Alabama.

Virginia legislators voted strong approval to a resolution of interposition which denounced the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling on public school segregation as an "illegal encroachment" on the sovereign rights of a state.

They voiced the pledge that Virginia, where the interposition movement had its recent rebirth, would follow whatever legal and honorable means it could muster to impede the mixing of white and Negro students in the classroom.

The vote yesterday left no doubt as to Virginia's stand; in the Senate the resolution passed 36-2; in the House 90-5.

Under the process of interposition, if more than one-fourth of the states interpose their rights on the question of public school integration, Congress will be asked to submit a constitutional amendment for approval of the country as a whole to clarify states rights.

In Georgia, a House committee approved a bill that would take away the charter of any city that fails to maintain racially segregated facilities.

Alabama was the first state to adopt an interpositionist plan which seeks to hold void the racial rulings of the Supreme Court.

The bomb blast came last night.

It was the second set off in 48 hours in Montgomery, beset by a drawn-out Negro boycott of city buses.

The bomb exploded in the front yard of the home of E. D. Nixon, a Negro Pullman car porter and former president of the Alabama National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Monday night a bomb was tossed at the parsonage home of the Rev. M. L. King, a Negro Baptist preacher.

Both Nixon and King have been active in directing the boycott of Montgomery buses.

Negroes in Montgomery have refused to ride city buses since Dec. 5 in a protest against segregated seating laws.

Peace Effort Said Result Of Geneva

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today one thing "the spirit of Geneva did accomplish" was to drive home to people everywhere "that the United States is trying to establish a just peace for the world."

The President made the statement in an informal talk to an audience of about 500 at the fourth annual prayer breakfast of the International Council for Christian Leadership. His remarks also were carried to a television audience watching the NBC network.

Referring to the summit conference at Geneva last July, Eisenhower said people talk all the time about the "spirit of Geneva"—meaning that Russia at the time gave the appearance it would try to get along with the West.

The President has said several times since then that those hopes of a changed Russian attitude have not been realized. Today he declared:

"The thing the spirit of Geneva did accomplish, and so far has not been destroyed, is that the United States is trying to establish a just peace for the world."

And that, the President added, is a sound accomplishment "in this day of fear and hysteria."

Eisenhower's audience at a Washington hotel included several members of Congress and the heads of various federal agencies.

Heart Of Whale Subject Of Study

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Paul Dudley White leaves today for a call on a huge gray whale.

Better known as President Eisenhower's personal physician, White heads for Mexican waters with an expedition sponsored by the National Geographic Society.

In a sheltered lagoon halfway down the Baja California peninsula, White hopes to discover data on the human heart by studying the pulsebeats of the gray whale, one of nature's largest mammals.

"This project climaxes years of studying animal heartbeats for clues to the mysteries of the human heart," White said.

Ike Asking Boost In Postal Rates

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower prodded Congress yesterday to raise postal rates, sending it a report that the mail service is losing $1,000 a minute.

The report was from Postmaster General Summerfield, who has been pressing unsuccessfully for three years for higher rates. The fate of the administration recommendations in this election year is dubious.

Eisenhower urged higher rates aggregating $406 1/2 million yearly, including a hike in first-class letter mail from 3 to 4 cents.

Polio Drive Gets $144 Contribution

A check for $144 was given today to the Pickaway County polio drive by C. E. Graves, superintendent of the Orient State School.

The amount represents 50 percent of money contributed by employees at the school. The other 50 percent was donated to the Franklin County drive.

Red Prices Hiked

MOSCOW (AP)—In a move to spur lagging crop production, the Soviet government has hiked by 70 percent the price it pays for vegetables which collective, state and individual farms are required to turn over to the state.

MAP LOCATES Aalesund, Norway, off which Norwegian torpedo boats seized five Russian fishing vessels. The Oslo government said the Russians were inside the four-mile limit.

Norway Court Decision Eyed In Red Dispute

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Norway apparently will wait for a ruling from her courts before taking action on Russia's mildly worded demand for the release of 14 Soviet fishing boats seized as pachers by the Norwegian navy.

The Soviets termed the affair a misunderstanding.

The Red trawlers were rounded up this week in the rich herring banks off the west coast port of Alesund. Norway protested formally to the Soviet government that her waters had been invaded by about 75 Russian trawlers.

Reports from Alesund said no Soviet craft had been seized since early yesterday and the Russian fleet apparently had put out to sea. Eight Norwegian naval craft were standing by in that area. Earlier the Norwegians said the Russians had returned each time the navy patrol chased them beyond the four-mile limit.

Russia denied that the fishing boats were in Norwegian territorial waters and demanded that Norway "promptly release" the 14 vessels.

A Norwegian Foreign Office spokesman commented:

"Our immediate reaction to the Moscow statement is that it will be for the courts to decide whether the vessels seized have violated the boundary. Prosecution against the trawlers has started and the cases will be dealt with according to Norwegian law."

Opposition Grows To Hike In Rates For Power Utility

COLUMBUS (AP)—Opposition developed to the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co.'s request to increase rates to its rural customers in 21 counties as the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio set Feb. 15 for a public hearing.

The company wants to increase rates enough to bring in an additional $114,400 a year. The rural customers live in Adams, Athens, Brown, Delaware, Fayette, Gallia, Meigs, Pickaway, Ross, Vinton, Highland, Hocking, Jackson, Knox, Lawrence, Licking, Madison, Morgan, Pike and Scioto counties.

The commission has on file letters from three persons protesting the application. One is from Mr. and Mrs. Hubert McDonald of The Plains in Athens County.

They say they can't complain of the electric service but add:

"We were told emphatically by a representative of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. at Athens that the proposed increase will be put into effect in spite of anything we might plan to do to oppose it."

Arraignments Due Monday For 7 Persons

Chillicothe Lawmaker Among Those Listed By Special Session

Ten true bills were returned late Wednesday by a special session of the Pickaway County grand jury, resulting in indictments against seven persons.

Twenty-six witnesses were called to testify before the jurors. Arraignments will be held next Monday morning.

Clifford E. Stewart, 18, accused of assaulting elderly women in their homes, was indicted on accusations of rape, breaking and entering of an inhabited dwelling in the night season with a count of assault with intent to rape, and one count of assault with intent to rape.

Stewart, a Circleville High School student, was picked up early in January following what police said was an attempted break-in of an E. Main St. home. The woman resident called police when she said someone was trying to open her door.

STEWART WAS taken into custody by officers who responded to the call. He allegedly signed a confession following interrogation by police.

A Chillicothe councilman, Paul J. Marzluff, was indicted for drunken driving. He was arrested by city police last Nov. 19 on S. Court St.

An indictment was returned against Clarence Hunter for issuing a check with no account. Hunter had been indicted for forgery by a grand jury here a few years ago. He was found in Texas and returned here and was placed on probation.

However, barely a week after he had been released from custody he allegedly passed a worthless

"ASH TRAY IN MATERNITY HOSPITAL"

To check the accuracy of this drawing I took it over to the Maternity Ward of a Hospital on West 60th St. and showed it to the Expectant Fathers. One of them, a heavy set fellow who was chewing the design off his necktie studied it a while and said it looked like "An Inner Tube with a Life-time Supply of Blowout Patches." Then a young man who was handing out cigars took a look and he said, "It's a Boy!" but I think he was confusing the Droodle with something else. Then I made a mistake and showed it to the Resident Physician who insisted it was a "Staphylococcus Subcutaneous." In fact, he was so positive that he gave it a shot of penicillin and charged me five bucks.

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My wife left me five years ago, and due to my religion I have never got a divorce. About two years ago I met a very wonderful girl and during this time we fell seriously in love and decided to marry.

She had known from the first that I was previously married but her parents never knew. I believe they thought I was a fine fellow, until the day I told them I wanted to marry Jean and had been married before. They, being strict in their faith (the same as mine), couldn't give their approval, and I believe have taken a dislike to me.

Jean is warned by her parents that they will be deeply hurt, and will disown her, if she marries me. This upsets her so much that we have called it off, even though we love each other sincerely.

Worry Clouds Letter

However, my real concern is over the don't-give-a-damn attitude Jean has taken towards life. She is 29 and feels that her time is running out for fruitful marriage; and that she probably never will marry so long as her parents are alive. They interfered to prevent another marriage she once contemplated; and her father doesn't allow her to go out with divorced men.

She is willing to devote her life to her parents, but knowing that she can't get married, she is embracing the philosophy of "Go out with anyone and have false fun." I am very fond of her and cannot see her carry on like that. It upsets me greatly, so that I find it very difficult even to write this letter. Please try to give me some good advice to pass on to her.

D. V.

DEAR D. V.: Jean is a neurotic sort of person, who sets store by being frustrated, dominated and unhappy. I gather, her troubles in the field of courtship are largely self-invited, probably.

Self-Employed Farm Aid Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Self-employed farmers would be excused from paying Social Security taxes on their workers' wages under a measure introduced by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio).

Bricker also proposed that these same farmers pay only 2½ per cent of their own income in social security.

Farmers, like businessmen, now pay 2 per cent of their employees income towards social security and 3 per cent on their own income.

Bricker's plan would amend pending legislation that proposed increasing these amounts to 2½ per cent and 3½ per cent respectively.

Evidently she has no great urge to get married and leave her proprietary parents. But still she is steeped in self-pity, at being stuck at this childish plane of existence. And I dare say that you and she drifted together as two of a kind—each of you unconsciously looking for something you shouldn't have. In other words, looking for plausible excuse to stay single "as is," while also deceiving yourselves that you do want to live responsibly, in grown-up relationships.

Jean has known from the first that you have a wife, you say. And her father forbids her to date divorced men, inasmuch as the family's religion strictly prohibits marriage of its members to divorced persons. All this being true, and no secret between you, why did she indulge the opportunity to fall in love with you, over a period of two years?

It doesn't make sense; unless we surmise that Jean has a compulsion (as unconscious drive) to pursue wrong attachments and get hauled back from them by belatedly alerted and alarmed parents. And as for your alleged serious desire to marry her, I don't think it merits belief. Her family's disgusted reaction to your hamstringing performance is probably justified.

Book Shows Way

I take it you aren't divorced, and aren't making any move to get legal release from your absentee wife. All you say here is that your religion stands in the way of divorce. So on what basis are you offering marriage to Jean? You don't make sense either, you see.

As for Jean's don't-give-a-damn attitude in dating just anybody nowadays, it refers to angry mixed-up fear of losing her sex attractiveness and lapsing into lonely isolated spinsterhood. She senses that. The only real remedy for this retrogressive trend is to get first hand psychological help, in learning how to bring mind, body and feelings consciously into harmony with her 30-year-old status.

As a contribution to her welfare, you might give her the Overstreets' book "The Mind Alive" (Norton publishers)—which tells how to keep our mental and emotional level high; how to live so that life has meaning.

THESE CATS ARE BOXERS

Referee Dellan gives instructions.

White lands a right to the puss.

And Tex is down for the count.

By MARION RUBINSTEIN
Central Press Association

DETROIT, Mich.—If you like cats you'll like White and Tex, two cats owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dellan of Detroit.

They earn their living and that of Mr. and Mrs. Dellan's, too, by acting. As you see, they like best to act like boxers.

If you'd like your cats to do the same, you can do it by training them, remembering to start early. It takes eight months to a year to train a cat to do this particular fight routine and much longer for them to get used to the band and excitement back stage.

But don't worry if your cat will not become a boxer, for there are some cats that just can't be trained, Mrs. Dellan says.

Right now, she's having trouble with Tex, who takes the knockout in the fight routine.

"Tex always wants to take his knockout before it's time for it," she says.

Their let's-pretend-we're-boxers routine has made a lot of children happy. And adults are delighted with them, too, says Mrs. Dellan, who told how she originated the act when she watched the cats playing one day.

"That made me think of it," she said. She made the gay-colored satin robes for the cats to wear and her husband bought some little boxing gloves and built a tiny fight arena for them.

Oftentimes both cats do things they have not been trained to do. "One night recently, they both fell out of the boxing ring," she laughed. "They looked at each other and then jumped right back into the ring. And when everyone laughed real hard, the cats just turned around and bowed."

Series Of Video Programs To Detail U. S. Consumption

NEW YORK (AP)—"For some time," says Joseph Nye Welch, "I've been concerned that so many people have so dim a perception of the Constitution and what it does in safeguarding their liberties."

"Almost any strong, rugged guy can make people forget there is a Constitution around. I felt it was time that as many people as possible were refreshed on the nature of the Constitution. The perfect medium for communication seemed to be television. So I got in touch with Omnibus. It seemed that it any program had the courage to try the idea, Omnibus would."

Omnibus did. And so, next Sunday afternoon it will present the first of a three-part study of that living document, the Constitution, on CBS-TV.

Welch, you remember, is the tall Boston lawyer of gentle manner and wiry speech who served as special counsel to the Army in its disagreement with Sen. Joseph McCarthy and his aides in 1954. Welch became well known to the nation's TV audience then. Now, at the age of 64, he's come here from his home in Walpole, Mass., to serve as a visible, audible guide to the television audience when Omnibus takes up the subject of the Constitution.

"There's a bit of the ham in every trial lawyer," Welch said drily. "But I'm not being integrated into the program as an actor, I have no future as an actor. But I think I have a little future as a lawyer."

Welch impresses you as the ideal person to serve as a guide. Large but not florid, acute but not sharp, he's the sort of lawyer you want to call "Judge" because he shows vast wisdom of human nature.

Character actors will play the many historic roles of the framers and changes of the Constitution. But they won't speak glib lines cooked up for them on Madison Avenue in 1956. In dramatic flashbacks they will speak the actual words written and spoken by the men who made and developed the Constitution.

Water Troublesome In Dry Weather

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Donald Cassidy, 25, drove without difficulty through last week's flood but Wednesday in clear, dry weather he steered his car smack into Los Cerritos drainage channel.

Police said Cassidy told them he dozed off at the wheel and awoke when water gurgled through his car. He said he rolled down a window, squirmed out and dog-paddled to the surface.

Specialized Type Of Income Needs Special Tax Handling

Editor's Note: Following is the fourth in a series of ten articles dealing with procedure for making out a tax report in 1955 income.

By FRANK O'BRIEN
AP Staff Writer

If you have income in any form except salary and wages (this includes bonuses, commissions and the like) you must report it in the special boxes, called schedules, on page 3 of Form 1040. On Page 4 there are two more boxes, where you can claim tax credits for two special kinds of income—dividends and retirement pay.

Some kinds of payments to you are not taxable income in the eyes of the tax law. Such receipts—gifts, for one example—can be set aside, free of tax (excluded) from the rest of your income. Exclusions, and the conditions under which you must make estimated tax payments, will be the subject of the next article.

Because the tax law gives a special break to taxpayers in retirement, and sets up special conditions for the self-employed and farmers, these types of income will be considered in separate articles. Here are the highlights of the tax law on other kinds of income, and on tax credits:

1. YOU ARE REQUIRED to report, in Schedule B, Page 3 of Form 1040, interest payments to you, as part of your taxable income, with certain exceptions. (Interest you pay is deductible from from state and municipal bonds, and on an $5,000 of U. S. Treasury bonds issued before March 1, 1941 is tax exempt, and you need not include it in your return.

The gradual increase in the value of certain savings bonds (Series "A" through "F") is interest, but you do not have to report it until you cash in the bond, or the bond matures, whichever happens earliest. You clip coupons from other types of savings bonds, or the government mails periodic interest checks. This is interest which must be reported as income for the year in which it is received.

Other interest on securities, loans and savings accounts is taxable, and must be reported.

2. Business or professional—the law taxes the profits of a business or profession—not total receipts. Businessmen and earners from a profession report their profits on special Schedule C, obtainable at revenue offices, post offices, banks and the like, and transfer the results to Line 8, page 1, of Form 1040. Summary Schedule C has been eliminated from Form 1040. Remember that if you are in business, or a profession, and employ others, you may be required to withhold income tax from the wages you pay, and report the withholdings. Your estimated tax paying responsibilities will be discussed in a separate article.

3. Partnerships—partners in a business firm do not pay taxes in the name of the firm. They report their share of the partnership profits in their individual tax returns. In the new Form 1040, this must be reported in Schedule H, on page 3, where estates and trusts also report.

4. Sales and exchanges of property—you must report any profit from the sale on separate Schedule D, on which capital gains can be computed. You transfer the results to Schedule D summary in Form 1040.

There are special rules for the sale of homes. You must report any profit on sale of your residence (or other property not held for gain), but any loss is not deductible.

PROFIT on a home sale is the difference between what you paid for the home (plus your spending on it for permanent improvements) and your sale price. But if

She Proves Tough When Attacked

HAMAMATSU, Japan (AP)—A husky high school boy attacked pretty Miss Misao Suzuki last night.

She fought him to a standstill. He barely escaped.

It was the second time she has been attacked recently. Last time, she caught the fellow and took him in for attempted rape.

Miss Suzuki, 29, is a plain-clothes policewoman.

you use up your profit buying another home (within a year) or building a new home (occupied within 18 months of when you sold the old one) your profit is not taxable. The new home cost must at least equal the adjusted sale price of your old home if none of your profit is to be taxable. The adjusted sale price is the full sale price, minus commissions and the cost of redecorating performed within 90 days before the date of your sale contract.

5. Dividends—You are required to report your dividend income. But you get two breaks on dividend income. The first is that you may exclude—set aside tax free—up to $50 of dividend income from qualified corporations (described on page 6 of the instructions). If you are filing a joint return, husband and wife may each exclude up to $50 of such dividend income, if each had qualified dividends. You do this in Schedule A, at the top of Page 3 on Form 1040.

On your dividend income from qualified corporations that you do not exclude in Schedule A, you may be able to get a tax credit. You work this out in Schedule J, page 4. The tentative credit is 4 per cent of the dividend income from qualified corporations you did not exclude. Your actual credit is the smaller of the tentative dividend credit, your tax, or 4 per cent of your taxable income.

THERE ARE a number of other credits to be considered before you find your final tax liability. Your tax liability is your tax (Line 12, on page 1) minus your credits. The biggest, most common credit is for taxes you have already paid through withholding.

You may also have a retirement income credit coming to you. This will be discussed in a separate article.

Next: Taxable Income is Key to Return.

'Citizens For Ike' Movement Revived

NEW YORK (AP)—John Reed Kilpatrick, chairman of the board of Madison Square Garden, has accepted the chairmanship of the National Citizens for Eisenhower organization.

Announcing that he would head the group, reactivated last month, Kilpatrick said the NCE has no intention to "pressure" Eisenhower into seeking a second term.

He told a questioner that he is "confident" Eisenhower will run. The NCE was active in the 1952 and 1954 campaigns.

Young Eyes Post

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland attorney and former congressman at large, Stephen M. Young, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for attorney general of Ohio at the May 8 primary.

Lush Diamond Parcel Sent Ordinary Mail

NEW YORK (AP)—An $8,400,000 shipment of diamonds arriving here by routine mail yesterday included a stone described as "the finest diamond in quality and purity ever found in Africa."

Harry Winston, a dealer who received the gems as though he would an order of groceries, said the description came from Sir Ernest Oppenheimer, a British authority on diamonds.

The prized 426-carat stone, valued at $1½ million, has no name. "If we can find a buyer for the stone," said Winston, "it will be named after his family. We are looking for a royal family."

Winston disdains heavy guards and ultra-secrecy in having his gems sent to him, saying the regular mail is "the safest way."

"I've never had a loss in my dealings with the postoffice," he commented.

The gems arriving yesterday, sent by air mail from London, came in several parcels.

Martin McDuffy, a letter carrier assigned to the general postoffice, delivered $6,400,000 worth.

The diamonds were delivered in a brown paper bag carried by Samuel Sigel, a messenger for a brokerage house to which they had been pre-addressed.

Gasoline Truck Burns, Runs Wild

CINCINNATI (AP)—A 5,000-gallon gasoline tank truck caught fire in the northern section of the city yesterday, ran wild into an auto parts lot and burned.

The truck driver, William Hampton, 24, of Hamilton, jumped from the vehicle when he saw the fire

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pork gives way to beef this weekend as the outstanding buy in the meat department.

You'll find choice cuts of beef at moderate prices almost everywhere. A Midwest chain has trimmed six cents a pound from prices of its sirloin steaks and rib roasts; other supermarkets are promoting various cuts of beef as weekend specials in Boston, Detroit, Chicago and New York.

Pork, in contrast, is sharply higher this week—gains range up to 10 cents a pound in some cities—and market analysts say prices will go higher still.

Another popular bargain item that's heading higher this week is chicken. Fryings chickens are up six cents a pound in some Midwestern cities and up about four cents on the West Coast.

Florida citrus fruits are still among the best buys on produce counters this week, with oranges and seedless grapefruit leading the parade.

Tagged as outstanding buys in vegetables are many of the lod favorites: iceberg lettuce, potatoes, onions, turnips and greens, including broccoli, collards and kale.

Jap Cops Chided

SHOUZOUKA, Japan (AP)—Since last November police had been looking for a 400-year-old clock stolen from a Shinto temple here. They found it on the temple steps last night with a note saying the police are a "pack of slowpokes."

Chicken is no longer just a holiday food or Sunday dinner special. Some 20 years ago, the poultry industry had not developed the broiler business to supply tender birds the year 'round. Now chicken in its many types and forms is a popular meat choice for any day of the year.

This category of food has been developed for specific uses and is at its best quality when served in these ways. Four main types, according to use, are being sold at the meat counters today—broilers, 2 to 3 months old and weighing 1½ pounds; fryers, 3½ to 5 months old and scaling 2½ to 4 pounds; roasters, 4 to 8 months old weighing 2½ to 5 pounds; and stewing hens, over 8 months old, tipping the scales at 2 to 5½ pounds. The shopper will get the most satisfaction by selecting the bird best suited for the intended use.

Markets offer chicken in a variety of forms—fresh or quick-frozen, whole or cut-up and ready-to-cook.

Lean chicken contains high quality protein. Dark meat furnishes more Vitamin B and iron than the white meat. The number of calories in a serving depends upon the amount of fat in the meat and the method of preparation. Chicken liver is an excellent source of iron.

AFL, CIO Merger Conference Slated

COLUMBUS (AP)—Discussions looking toward an early merger of the AFL and CIO on the state level will begin in early March, representatives of the two labor groups decided yesterday.

Nine-man committees will represent each group during the discussions on a date yet to be set.

Representatives of the groups estimated to have a statewide membership of one million said in a joint statement late yesterday: "We enter the merger discussions with the confidence that the joining together of our two state organizations will result in additional benefits to the Ohio worker, his family and community."

Negro Coed Enters Alabama University

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—A 26-year-old Birmingham secretary has become the first Negro student in the 125-year history of the University of Alabama, but she was denied a dormitory room and meals with white students.

Four fiery crosses were burned on the university campus Tuesday night and yesterday in protest against her enrollment.

Arthurine J. Lucy, admitted on federal court order, was given a registration card. Reporters were given a written announcement that no dormitory room or board would be provided for her.

DiSalle, Brown File Petitions

COLUMBUS (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle of Toledo yesterday filed petitions to become the first official candidate for governor in the May 8 primary elections. He is a Democrat.

DiSalle filed with the secretary of state a few minutes ahead of Lt. Gov. John W. Brown of Medina, who became the first Republican gubernatorial candidate to enter the race officially.

DiSalle, former Toledo mayor, was former President Truman's price controller during OPA days.

CHICKEN IS perishable before and after it is cooked. Fresh chicken should be wrapped loosely, stored in the refrigerator and used within two or three days. Ready-to-cook, properly packaged, quick-frozen chicken retains its quality for several months when stored in a freezer below zero degrees Fahrenheit. Cooked chicken should be chilled quickly if it is not to be eaten immediately.

And so the demand and supply, chicken and egg cycle continues! The hatchery output in December was the largest on record for the month according to the Cooperative Extension Econogram. Demand for chicks for broiler and egg production is strong. A near record hatch is expected for January as eggs in incubators on January 1 were 32 per cent above a year ago.

Utilities Hope To Alter Law In Cost Fight

Erv Leist, public utilities manager for the city of Circleville, has revealed the role he played in helping to get a proposed bill before Congress.

The measure is designed to get the federal government and eventually lower-level governments, to help pay part of the expense of moving public utility lines when a road is widened or relocated. At the present time, the utilities must stand this expense alone.

Leist was president of the Ohio sector of the American Water Works Association when the group ordered surveys to be taken in every state in the country. These surveys were to be used as proof that the proposed measure was necessary.

For example, Leist cited an instance on a local level. He said that when consideration was being given to widening N. Court St. instead of bypassing the city with Route 23, a cost estimate was figured at $5,000 just to move public utility lines; and this was for a short distance.

"Perhaps a public utility can stand this kind of expense," he said. "Out in some areas, the relocation of utility lines on a big scale could wipe out all of the utilities' funds and reserves."

Mother, 5 Kiddies Die In Home Fire

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A mother and five children died in a fire that destroyed their home in a matter of minutes in a suburban area five miles east of here Wednesday night.

Only the father, Arthur Merrill Graham, 50, escaped. He said an explosion, presumably of an oil heater, blew him through a window.

He told authorities that those trapped inside were: Mrs. Thelma May Graham, 39, his wife; his four children, Richard 7, Susan, 5, Kathleen, 3, Arthur Jr., 2, and a nephew, Gerald Edward Myers, 13.

BE PATIENT

THOSE WHO are waiting for a friendly atom to heat their houses, run their cars and do their dishes, may as well be prepared to stand in line a long time. Atomic energy is not likely to be put to practical use within 10 years, and not then in places where coal and oil are available.

The obstacles in the way of early utilization of atomic energy for peaceful purposes are many in number and high in stature. For one thing, the scientists who developed the bomb in such a relatively short period and who alone know about such matters have for the most part returned to civilian pursuits and plan to stay there.

Under the pressure of a war emergency they were willing to work day and night at top speed. Now they would be more leisurely in an approach to the problem.

Then again there is a bottleneck that is caused by low supplies of uranium and the tremendous cost of erecting the necessary plants. Another difficulty that lies in the way of quick progress is the present lack of engines which can withstand the heat that can be generated by atoms.

So it is just as well not to be too hopeful. The atom will be harnessed to peacetime projects in time, but probably only those who are now young will get the full benefit.

THEY STAY PUT

DEPENDING on the point of view, it is a sign of something or other that there has been lately a steady decline in the number of factory workers shifting from a job here to a job there.

It could be an indication that these men and women are so well satisfied with their wages and conditions of employment that they are content to remain where they are. Or it might mean, as it has meant occasionally in the past, that they are fearful of the future and so cling to the jobs which they now have.

In trying to evaluate the significance of this development, it probably is wise not to ignore the factor of housing. There was a time when men could move from city to city and be certain of a place to live. This left them free to give up one job and take another which promised a greater return. They lack that assurance today and so do not think of going somewhere else, either for the purpose of bettering themselves financially or to accommodate a spirit of restlessness.

LEAP YEAR DETERRENT

MOVIE ACTRESS Dorothy Malone is reported saying she will never propose to a man during Leap Year because: "Suppose the marriage didn't work out. Then I would always regret that I was the one who provoked it."

Strange, but a few years ago folks getting married assumed it would "work out"

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Ike Eisenhower is to be congratulated for turning down Bulganin's love letter. He might have sent it back unopened. It was a self-serving document to show "Oh! What a good boy am I!" when, as a matter of fact, he has been acting the very bad boy for months, chasing about Asia, making as much trouble for the United States as he and his side-kick, Nikita Khrushchev, can.

Then he sends a little note saying that a little necking is good for anyone. Eisenhower has taken the only moral step possible, for what Bulganin proposed was not peace but a thwarting of efforts toward peace. Actually, Bulganin and Khrushchev were trying to make a fool of Eisenhower and he was having none of it.

There is a vulgarity in all this which has not been usual in international relations. A communication between sovereigns used to be an important document, written with solemnity and sent from one to the other, with due regard for the courtesy of timing. The Russians sent the love letter to Eisenhower on the eve of Anthony Eden's visit to Washington.

To us, on such an occasion, they offer a two-country treaty, clearly an effort to bring about a divorce between the United States and Britain. This has been an item of Russian strategy since Yalta when Roosevelt and Stalin held private talks concerning Winston Churchill—not too pleasant comments on Churchill's character and country.

At the time of Yalta, Great Britain was a very weak country, wholly dependent upon the United States. That is not true today. Great Britain has made a remarkable economic recovery and in the politics of the world, the Commonwealth of Nations, which is the remnant of the British Empire, is a potent force and remains a bulwark of our defense against the Soviet Universal State.

It was clear at Geneva last summer that Khrushchev and Bulganin were playing a very clever game to isolate the United States from its natural allies. It did not work. It might have worked because of the great anxiety of the American people for peace. What we are approaching in the Eisenhower Administration is a doctrine of "Peace with Dignity and Honor."

At Yalta and Potsdam, the issue was to discover a way to get along with Soviet Russia which had become difficult since 1943 (Teheran). Subsequently, we pursued a policy of appeasement up to the moment of the Berlin Airlift (1948).

Then came an era of confusion, embittered by the Korean and the Indochinese Wars, complicated by the death of Stalin and the development of neutralism in Europe and Asia and the machinations of Nehru who sought to build a great power in the Indian Ocean to equal the power built by Stalin in Europe and Mao Tze-tung in China.

The rejection of Bulganin's love letter and the language Eisenhower used adds the element of dignity to a proceeding that had become vulgar and cheap. And dignity for a nation is important. It is a concomitant which raises not only the morale of a nation but its morals. It elevates a people to a proper appraisal of its own worth.

and didn't look forward before the marriage to the divorce to follow. But then, Hollywood being what it is, perhaps Miss Malone is just being realistic.

Ideal Boss—What Is He?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—If hired hands could pick their own boss, what kind of a boss would they pick?

You'd think that the average employer would rather walk under a falling ladder than risk stirring up the office peasants by asking them a question like that.

Not at all. Business was so good last year that the 16,000 executives who belong to the National Office Management Assn. had enough spare time to brood over just that question and set out to find the answer.

They polled 20,000 office workers throughout the United States and Canada on the qualities of an "ideal boss"—and got replies from 6,537, or about one third.

Surprisingly, the gripes were few. Not one wrote: "My idea of an ideal boss is a guy who will figure out a way to solve the towel problem in the men's room."

In its own summary of the returns, the executives' association said the ideal boss was pictured as "a man between 40 and 49 with a high degree of managerial skill who is eminently fair to workers and has a good deal of common sense."

The breakdown revealed further: 1. Laziness isn't held against him.

2. Young women workers want him to have "an understanding nature," and not be grouchy.

3. Older women demand that he have a good appearance, a high degree of intelligence, and a sense of humor.

4. Young workers don't like a superior attitude.

5. Older workers don't object if he has a temper but insist that he mustn't lie.

6. Most workers don't mind if a boss is impatient so long as he is fair. They think he should "be ready with a pat on the back for good work, and to sort of let people know what is going on in the business."

The results of this poll probably are pretty enlightening to the executives themselves. But I feel to wonder about the 13,463 office workers who didn't return their questionnaires. Why not? Couldn't they afford a three-cent stamp? Were they afraid it might be a subtle management trick to trap them into saying something unwise?

I decided to make a short poll of my own. So I went out to the street during lunch hour and asked the first five office workers I met their idea of a perfect boss.

Well, sir, I'm afraid my results are a bit disheartening to the average ambitious executive. Here is the composite portrait of the ideal boss that emerged:

He is a manic-depressive who is near-sighted and has a bad memory, a sore throat and a passion for playing golf.

Here are the explanatory comments of those polled:

"I been reading up on psychiatry and I read that a manic depressive is a guy who throws money around when he's feeling high, and don't like to be around nobody when he's feeling low. What's wrong with a boss like that?"

"A near-sighted boss can't tell who you are even if he spies you sneaking downstairs for an extra coffee break."

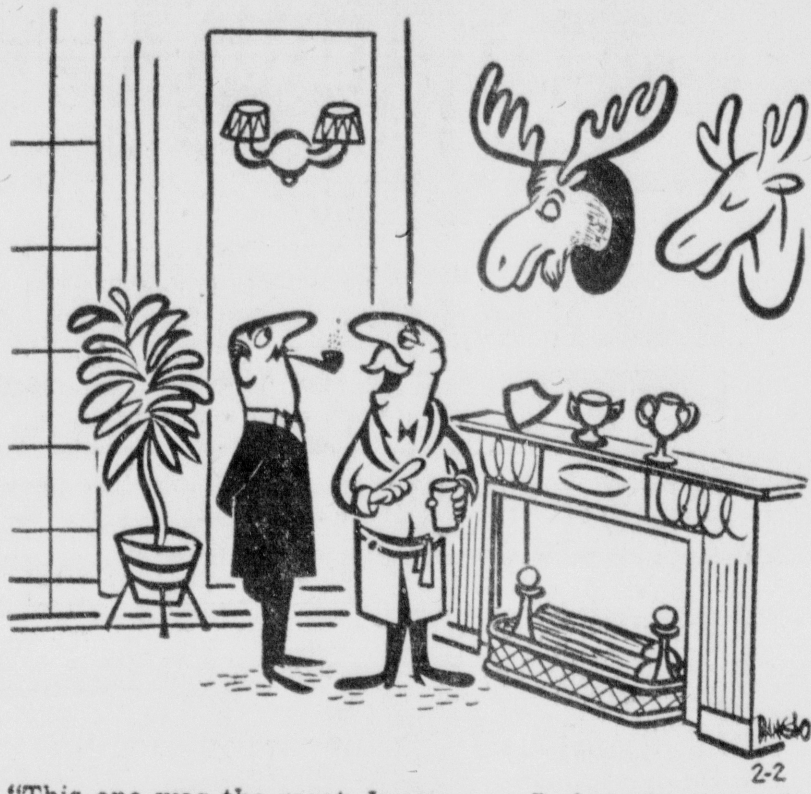

"A boss with a bum memory always forgets today the boners you pulled yesterday."

"Bosses should be seen and not heard. I have tender ears. A boss with a sore throat can't bawl you out without hurting himself more than he hurts you."

"A boss that likes to play golf doesn't hang around the office all afternoon. That gives you a chance to sneak home early yourself."

Neither of these polls perhaps proves anything. But taken together they may give a more rounded picture of "the ideal boss" than either does separately.

Taking Care Of Child's Smallpox Vaccination

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IT is a well-known fact that infants should be vaccinated against smallpox. Some states have laws making it compulsory. But many mothers don't know how to take care of the vaccination after it is given.

Your youngster may well be inoculated about the age of three months. Certainly no later than one year.

Mild Reaction

Reaction to a vaccination is usually mild if it is given before the child is a year old.

You don't have to give the vaccination any care until there is evidence that it has taken. Proof that it has taken is the appearance of a small blister on the fourth or fifth day.

It is not considered advisable to apply a bandage to a normal vaccination take. It is recommended, however, that the baby be clad in long-sleeved garments from the time the blister appears until the scab drops off.

If your baby scratches the blister, he may transfer the vaccination to other areas. And if he scratches off the crust, it might increase the scarring.

Don't let the vaccination area get wet as long as the blister or the scab remain. During this time, bathe the baby by sponge baths.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

L. M.: My daughter has plantar warts. What would you advise?

Answer: Plantar warts are best treated by means of X-ray; usually, one or two X-ray treatments will cure them.

It is advisable that your daughter consult a physician concerning treatment in her particular case.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

GENERALLY, Ernst carried out Alan's orders. He was more than a capable surgeon, he was particularly good. Alan was too honest not to see that, and acknowledge it.

Ernst had, for example, done a masterly job of reducing the femur fracture of Uncle Arthur's lady-love. The accident, which had occurred during Ernst's first week with them, had been the direct result of dim old eyes, foolish high heels and a stretch of icy sidewalk. It was, of course, a serious injury to a woman of seventy.

It had taken Alan to persuade the old belle into a belief that she could ever hope to recover from such an injury—but he had coaxed her into an agreement to a double-pin fixation. Then Dr. Ernst had taken over; he had performed the operation, had made the first spica and had, throughout, attended the case, exerting his personal charm upon Miss Little Mae, coming often out of her room to speak of her as a silly old lady—which she was!—and tell in wonder of her concern lest the operation leave a scar!

And now, six weeks after the fall, Miss Little Mae was ready to leave the hospital, to go back to her wide-verandahed home. Her frilly bed jackets and the array of creams and lotions had all been packed. Her shiny black Packard stood at the door. Miss Little Mae was dressed and seated in her new wheel chair, ready to make a charming face at the crutches which the doctors urged her to use. Crutches, she said, were so ugly!

She distributed gifts to the nurses who attended her, and wanted to say good-by to Dr. Ernst, as well as to Alan, who had come in for the ceremony of departure.

"You lazy boy!" said Miss Little Mae, cooly. "You let Dr. Ernst do all the work!"

"I certainly did," agreed Alan. "Well, your doctor will be in a minute."

"Oh, here he is!" cried Miss Little Mae. She fluttered, she giggled and bridled. Dr. Ernst, dressed for riding, in brown coat, fawn breeches, glossy boots, crushed his felt hat under his arm, and lifted her hand to his lips.

"We shall miss you!" he assured the old lady.

"You've been just wonderful to me, Doctor!" she warbled. "Nothing could repay your interest in me—but I made this as a token."

This was a fat purse of brown satin, embroidered elaborately in pink moss roses and pale blue bow-knots. She must have worked the entire six weeks upon the confection—and it was truly a fearsome thing.

Alan, at the window, put his big hand over his mouth to hide his smile. The things a doctor could get into!

But quickly his smile faded. Ernst had stiffened. Above his snowy stock, his handsome face had become a cold mask, his voice—

Coldly he was explaining to Miss Little Mae that doctors were paid by a set fee, not by an offering of handiwork!

He was correct. He was courteous. He was as cold as a knife blade. And stone hard in his lack of understanding.

Miss Little Mae's faded blue eyes clung to his face; she listened until he had finished. Then she said, as quietly and as calmly as Rupert had spoken, but quite so coldly. "I understand, Dr. Ernst. Will you tell me just what the 'fee' amounts to?"

"The surgical charge, apart from your hospital bill, Mrs. Liddell, is five hundred dollars."

"Thank you." Carefully, Miss Little Mae stripped the white glove from her right hand, she bent her curly head and her pretty little flower toque over the purse in her lap. Carefully, she slipped the carved gold button out from the loop of brown silk. From the depths of the purse her small hand drew a thick fold of green bills. Carefully still, her lips counting, she peeled five of these bills from the bundle and set them out upon the bed; then she put the money that remained back into the purse, buttoned it, tucked it firmly under her coat and looked around at her Negro houseman. "I'm ready to go now, Eugene," she said with dignity.

He wheeled her out, awful purse and all.

Rupert Ernst's face was a sight to see! Following the chair, Alan told himself that he must remember to tell Linda! How she would laugh! Her bright head back, her eyes crinkled shut.

The elevator came, and he stepped into it after Eugene and the chair. Perhaps Alan would not be able to tell Linda that particular story. Lately he could not seem to tell her funny things—not about Ernst. The time or two he'd tried, she'd sprung to the man's defense. She liked Ernst—and with Linda, that liking would be based on deeper things than the exciting effect of a man's good looks and charming manners.

She saw something of him, Alan knew. He'd seen them walking together, and riding—a time or two. A hot wave of anger and jealousy swept over him.

But what was he offering to Linda? Why shouldn't she turn elsewhere? He must think this over, and meanwhile he'd better watch himself, both with Linda, and with Ernst. Certainly he must not let his personal resentment, his jealousy, influence his professional relationship to Ernst here in the hospital.

Neither were these happy days for Linda. It was a time of confusion and doubt. She missed doing little intimate things for Alan, the close companionship there had always been between them, the way they'd talked, and shared small jokes. She missed him most particularly at night, in her bedroom. Alone in the wide four-poster, she was unable to sleep. She would lie for hours, lonely and bewildered.

A girl's dreams, she thought, dealt with love and romance, with Prince Charming. When love came to her, when she lay all night in the arms of her lover, she regretted that the night must end, and be followed by the day and its duties. But, when one was beloved, there was always another night.

Now—for Linda—the busy days ended only in nights of loneliness and despair. What was it for? Could life go on this way, empty, without plan or purpose? Just the living through the days and nights—without straining or looking forward?

On that night of their anniversary dinner, Linda had acted impulsively, but even so she had not said much! She couldn't remember her exact words, but they couldn't have been much—and the little she had said, she had immediately regretted. But Alan had been tired—

And Seretha, the very next morning.

Had it not been for Seretha, Linda could have gone to Alan, spoken the words that might quickly have set things right between them.

But Seretha had immediately pounded a wedge into the thin saw-cut, then had gone on to add others, aiming to split the tree. Linda recognized her process, but seemed unable to do anything about it.

Alan was clever. So clever that Alan had probably no idea of what his mother was doing. Perhaps Alan thought Linda had moved his things from their room. Often she had thought of questioning him about this, but always held back lest it seem that she was begging him to return. On Christmas Eve he had seemed ready to attempt a reconciliation—but there had been the fire—

When Linda had brought Manning home, Seretha had made a big thing of Linda's suggestion that she adopt the boy; she had spoken of it often and managed to convey the idea that marriage was over for Linda, and for that reason she wanted an adopted child with which to fill her barren life.

Why? Why did Ma'am do these things? Perhaps she resented a second woman in her home, feared the threat which Linda offered to Ma'am's own position as mistress. Yet Linda had not aggressively taken over any of the multiple duties which she now performed! It had been a gradual matter of "Linda, will you please see about flowers?" Then, "Miss Linda will attend to the flowers, Jacob."

Ma'am herself had first sent Ruby to Linda for orders about meals. Linda was asked to go to St. Louis about replacing the brocade on the parlor chairs.

Perhaps Ma'am, realizing belatedly that actually Linda was the executive mistress of the house, now wanted to change this. Perhaps Alan was content to stay the width of the hall away from his wife. If both suppositions were true, then Linda feared that she must take herself out of the house. Her own pride would force that step upon her, and the sooner she did it, the better.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nothing startling—and little that looks positive at this moment—came out of the three-day meeting between President Eisenhower and Britain's Prime Minister Eden.

The two men issued a joint statement on where they had, and hadn't, agreed. Later, officials briefed newsmen on what lay behind some of the items in the statement and added some which were not included in it.

It is possible the President and Prime Minister reached understandings not made public. It is also possible their two governments may in time take action based on the discussions here.

But on the surface, taking the statement and the briefing together, the positive and immediate things done at the conference were few.

In language as strong as any used by the West since the summit conference in Geneva last summer, the two men blasted the Russians for their determination to expand and for their dictatorship over the people they control.

This made it plain they considered the cold war back in full force. Their charges against Russia will, when broadcast to Asians and Iron Curtain peoples, serve as counterpropaganda to Russian charges of Western colonialism.

Middle East: Eisenhower and Eden express concern about keeping the peace in the Middle East. But they produced no solution. They agreed to talk with France about possible steps to take.

This might lead to a decision to intervene if war broke out. As a means of keeping peace, the Western Allies will have future talks about such ideas as financial and economic sanctions against an aggressor in the Middle East and the possible use of the American 6th Fleet which operates in the Mediterranean.

No decision was reached on granting Israel's request for arms.

Asia: Red China was warned not to get frisky. The two men said they are "united in our purpose . . . to deter and prevent aggressive expansion by force or subversion." But then, in their statement, they acknowledged they hadn't agreed on how to do it.

Briefing officers said Eisenhower believes he won Eden's agreement to help block United Nations membership for Red China this year.

Europe: Eisenhower and Eden agreed this country and Britain would continue what they've been doing there, such as backing the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, demanding Russia let Germany unite, and so on.

Atomic: The two men simply said they would continue working for the establishment of an international agency for the peaceful development of atomic energy. Briefing officers added the two nations agreed they would not stop testing atomic and hydrogen weapons.

Sandusky County JP Income Scale Set

FREMONT, Ohio (AP) — The 11 justices of the peace in Sandusky

County will be paid $25 a year and $4. for each case handled, the county commissioners have decided.

Commissioner Marion Brown said that by fixing an annual sum the commissioners complied with a new law which went into effect Jan. 1, which was intended to change the rate of pay from fees to salaries.

He said the law did not specify that it was illegal to add something to an annual salary.

The payments are to be made semi-annually, on the basis of reports to be submitted by each justice on July 1 and Jan. 1.

In Sandusky County a survey showed the incomes for justices of the peace ranged from $2,500 to $3,745 a year.

FARM NEWS and VIEWS

By R. S. SWENSON, County Agent

Liquid Fertilizer

Several questions have come to our office recently concerning the value of liquid fertilizer as opposed to the dry forms. The answer is very simple. To the best of our knowledge, one pound of nitrogen, phosphorus, or pot ash has the same value as a plant food whether it comes in a bag, is spread in bulk, or is dissolved in water and applied in solution. Water is the all important element in fertilizer usage. Any fertilizer element must be dissolved in water before a plant derives any benefit from it.

In the purchase of fertilizer I would say that one of the basic guiding principles a farmer can use is to compare the cost of a pound of plant food. For instance, a dry fertilizer carrying an analysis of 0-20-20 and priced at $60 per ton would carry 40 pounds of plant food per 100 pounds or 800 pounds per ton. The computed price of one pound of plant food would be 7½ cents.

Likewise, a liquid fertilizer carrying an analysis of 10-20-10 and priced at 50 cents per gallon ($90 per ton) would carry about 4.4 pounds of plant food per gallon or 796 pounds per ton. The cost of this material would be 12½ cents per pound of plant food. It is obvious to anyone which is the best buy.

Parity

Pickaway County is one of eight counties in Ohio selected by the United States Department of Agriculture to be surveyed for the purpose of establishing a new parity price formula. From 30 to 40 farmers, picked at random, will be contacted to get data concerning income and expenses during the past several years. The work is being conducted by the crop reporting service of USDA.

Extension Advisory Committee
Members of the Pickaway County Extension Advisory Committee

re-elected Ray Carpenter of Mulenberg Township as president at their annual meeting. Clyde Michael of Darby Township was elected vice-president, replacing Harley Mace, and Leora Sayre was re-elected secretary. A report of activities and accomplishments of the extension service during 1955 was reviewed by the group.

Robert McCormick, district supervisor of extension for Southwestern Ohio, outlined the organization of extension in Ohio and pointed out some of the changes which have taken place recently. The committee felt that perhaps the most effective job of extension teaching is done by contacts made personally by the agents rather than through group meetings. They also felt that newspaper columns are one of the most effective means of disseminating information.

The committee composed of two representatives from each of the 15 townships plans to hold quarterly meetings in the future.

Coming Events

The 4-H Advisory Committee for Pickaway County will meet at the County Extension Office Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of reviewing last year's 4-H program and recommending changes and or additions in the 1956 program. The committee is responsible for making major decisions relating to the 4-H and older youth program.

The Pickaway County Hereford Breeders' will hold a tour and dinner meeting on Tuesday. The tour will get under way at 1 p. m., with stops being made in order at the following farms:

Carson Horton, Frank Bowling, J. B. Stevenson and son, and Carl Britton and sons. An evening banquet is planned for the Mecca Restaurant at 7 p. m. Anyone is invited to the meeting and banquet, however, banquet reservations must be made by calling the Coun-

Air ROTC Recruit Film Change Due

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma A&M College Air Force ROTC officers say new "flight" plans had been filed for a recruiting film after a preview showed more bathing beauties than bombers.

Col. Clarence H. Breedlove, director of the Aggie air detachment, said he had no doubt but what this film would stimulate more men to join up for advanced ROTC courses but he wasn't so sure how it would go over with taxpayers and other audiences.

The film was made during the Aggie cadets' trips to such places as Las Vegas, Nev., and other scenic spots. The ROTC had planned to show it to civic groups.

Extension Office before Friday evening, February 3.

Top Dressing Wheat

1956 may be the year in which it will pay Pickaway County farmers to top dress wheat particularly if growth was limited last fall. From 20 to 30 pounds of a actual nitrogen may be applied in March, however, if a good stand of legume is desired it may be well to use 200 to 300 pounds of a complete analysis fertilizer such as 10-10-10 or 14-14-14.

The complete fertilizer may be applied at any time so long as there is little or no snow cover.

Falls At Home Said Worst Killer

CLEVELAND (AP)—Falls at home killed more Clevelanders than automobiles last year.

Of 361 non-traffic deaths from injury in Cuyahoga County, 220 were from falls. That compared with 149 lives taken by automobiles in the county in 1955.

Death came to 193 persons in their homes, and to 35 others in industrial plants.

Approximately half of all the accident victims, traffic and non-traffic, were 60 or more years old.

Massillon Gambling Report Awaited

CANTON (AP)—Prosecutor John Rossetti said last night that the Stark County grand jury investigating gambling in Massillon will make its report by Saturday.

Massillon Mayor Edgar L. Lash testified for an hour and a half before the jury yesterday.

Police Chief Stanley Switzer, former Safety - Service Director Homer V. Schrader and detective Robert Dennison are among others who have testified.

Congressmen Asked To OK Highway Bill

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state highway director has asked all congressmen from Ohio to vote for passage of a federal highway aid bill that would add millions of dollars of good roads in Ohio.

A letter from the director, Samuel O. Linzell, was in the mail today to all Ohio representatives and its two senators, asking speedy passage of the Fallon bill.

That bill would provide federal aid to highways on the interstate highway system. Ohio now has 1,300 miles of roads on that system.

Linzell said Ohio is financially able to handle its share of the cost of such federal projects to July 1, 1960. The director said a highway needs study made a year ago by the state and federal governments shows that Ohio needs a minimum of $1,361,000,000 in improvements over the next 13 years to bring the interstate system up to par.

Ohio's share of the cost under the bill which would provide 90 per cent federal aid, would be $136 million.

By using state road bond funds, Ohio would be able to meet $258 million of the need by July 1, 1960, Linzell said.

If state bond money can be used to match federal funds, the state money will go further in improving Ohio roads, the director added.

Long Cold War Seen Ahead For U.S., Russia

Political, Economic Weapons To Be Used In Continuing Conflict

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series of three articles dealing with developments in the current East-West cold war.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

There is a long political-economic war ahead for the United States and the Soviet Union.

As the years go by, developments in superweapons may minimize the question of superiority of one side or the other in the military field. Already, a standoff in nuclear weapons is forcing the East-West quarrel into the field of economic and political competition. And with each year of such competition, the military picture will be changing.

The free world still has the ability and the power to retaliate massively to aggression, and even political aggression such as that which seized Czechoslovakia would carry with it today the threat of atomic world war. Thus, in the opinion of some highly placed observers, the Russians are prevented from seizing many an otherwise alluring opportunity.

The Soviet Communist party's 20th congress, opening two weeks hence, undoubtedly will set off a flood of propaganda for unconditional prohibition of nuclear weapons by international agreement. Even today, Western leaders are asking: Aside from the obvious question of foolproof safeguards in such an agreement, is it going to be possible in the future to distinguish between atomic and non-atomic war?

If tactical atomic weapons were used to counter a Red aggression, would that lead eventually to use of the big bombs? If fear of that existed, the advantage would swing back to conventional forces.

On the continent of Europe, the U.S.S.R. has and will have for a long time to come a great superiority in ground forces. There are only about 15 active divisions available to the NATO command to protect a European front of hundreds of miles. German rearmament progresses slowly. NATO's members are reluctant to build up their effective forces. Without the threat of what Secretary of State Dulles calls "massive retaliation," little would stand in the way of Red military aggression.

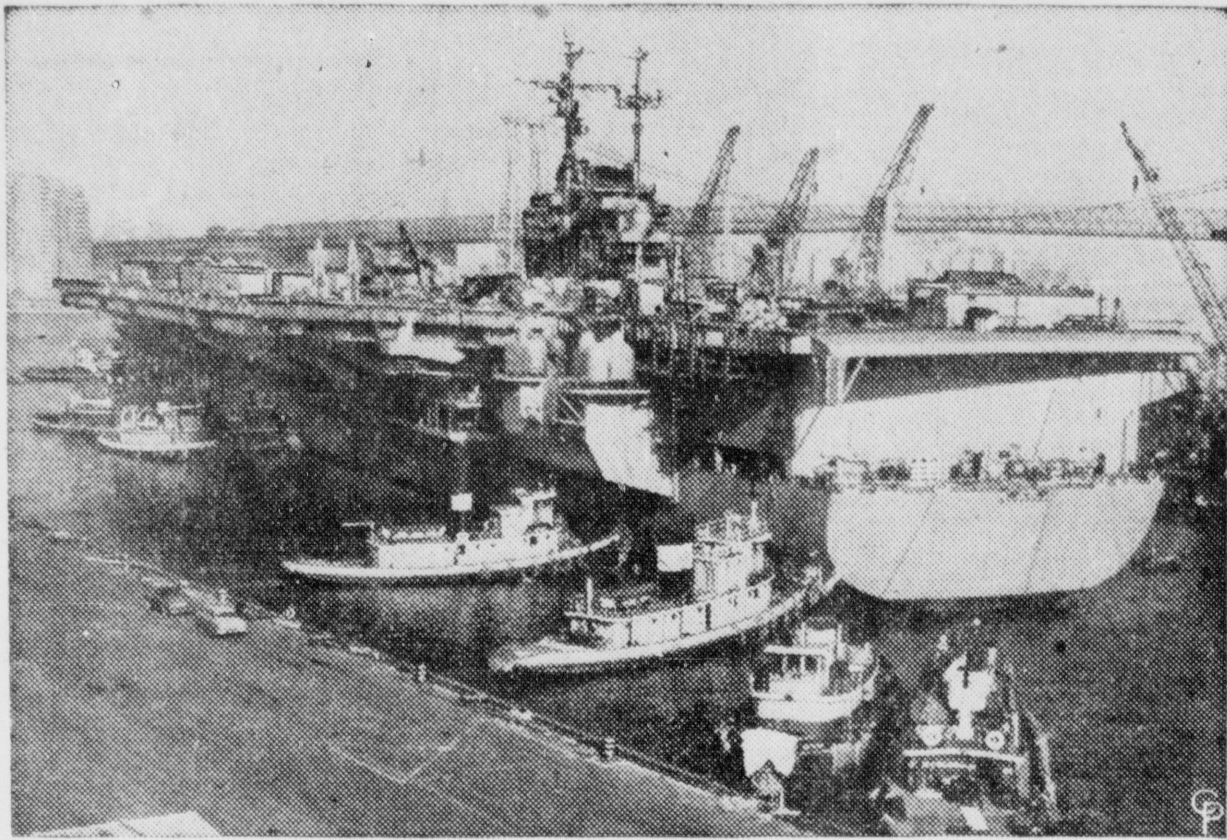

Some American leaders feel a complete ban on nuclear weapons therefore would be handing the Soviet Union a long-range political advantage generated by the mass of Soviet land power. Thus, the current discussion of a "new look" in atomic weapons becomes a matter of grave importance.

A highly placed informant in Washington indicates this was the line of thinking behind the recent "brink of war" statement attributed to Secretary Dulles. It points up the dangers of miscalculating American intentions.

The propaganda disadvantages of announcing such an American policy of strong deterrents are obvious, and Soviet propagandists can be expected to make the most of them.

But the deterrent still leaves the free world with time to build its counteroffensive. While the Soviet Union is short of its economic goals at home, while it is struggling with its own long-range strategic planning to protect the U.S.S.R. against the possibility of global war, the Kremlin is unlikely to move aggressively beyond its noisy but still ineffective economic grandstand plays.

War on that field — economic competition — is bringing the game to American home grounds. It offers anxious world hope of safety from a major shooting war for years to come, years in which to wage for peace.

THE AIRCRAFT CARRIER SARATOGA, most powerful warship in the world, is moved by tugs from the drydock where she was built at the New York Naval Shipyard to another pier. The Saratoga will undergo final dock trials there and get last fittings before being commissioned on April 14. (International)

Sokolsky's These Days

For too many years, we have permitted ourselves to be humiliated by the propaganda, even in our own country, of foreign powers, not only by Soviet Russia, but by many others, some of them our allies. The time has come to reject not humility but masochism, an imposed masochism which for some becomes a source of pride.

If the new tone of Eisenhower's reply to Bulganin persists, we may even begin to teach American history in all our schools as the continuing story of a really great people who conquered a huge continent by hard work and competent thought and love of country.

We might put patriotism back in our text-books and drive out those horrible brochures designed to popularize "an ally," Soviet Russia, which did so much to corrupt a generation of our children. For if national dignity is restored, patriotism must be restored.

We too can love Mother Earth — our mother earth, although not being essentially pagan, our love for country is more likely to pour upward toward the God in whom we have always trusted.

Cincinnati Man Surrounded By Cops

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Cincinnati man awoke yesterday to find a ring of police pistols aimed at him.

Police had moved into his apartment on a bartender's tip that the man looked like Leslie Irvin, convicted slayer who escaped jail in Princeton, Ind., two weeks ago. He quickly identified himself and the police left. It was just another of several tips they had run down on Irvin's whereabouts.

Millersport Plant Plans Expansion

MILLERSPORT (AP)—Midland Screw Corp. plans to build a new plant west of here on an eight-acre tract to be presented to the corporation by the new Millersport Community Development Assn.

Midland moved to this Fairfield County community four years ago, occupying a furniture factory building. The firm increased production of the plant which now employs 80 area men, and larger facilities are necessary. Plans are for a 240 by 150-foot building on Ohio 204 at the city limits. The company says an estimated $300,000 worth of new plant equipment is on order.

54 Lima Persons Due For Hearings

LIMA (AP)—Fifty-four persons, including three officers of Local 724, International Union of Electrical Workers, must answer Feb. 28 to charges they violated a court order requiring peaceful picketing at the struck Lima plant of Westinghouse Electric Corp.

In contempt charges filed by Westinghouse, the 45 men and nine women are accused of violating a common pleas court order issued Oct. 19, two days after the national strike started.

Among those cited were Ladd Bollinger, president of Local 24; Hugh Robinson, vice president, and James D. Maxwell, steward.

Illinois Scientist's Research Pays Off

Professor Woodworth examines specimens of broom corn plant, improved by patient cross breeding.

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON
Central Press Association Correspondent

TEANECK, N. J. — Some people have difficulty getting anywhere on time, but not Omer C. Catan. For nearly a quarter of a century he has so diligently pursued a hobby of being an early bird that he holds the title of "Mr. Fly" in the United States.

The 480 times that Catan has been the first to go through a turnstile at an important event, cross a new bridge, or board an ocean liner after its christening is almost a chronology of notable happenings.

Now Catan is branching out and his latest "first," the purchase of the initial ticket for the Dominican Republic's International Peace and Progress fair at Ciudad Trujillo, has given an international flavor to his exploits.

As long as he can remember, Catan has liked to be first—on the opening day of school, at sports events, and dedications of all kinds—but it was the thrill that he got at 5 a. m., Oct. 25, 1931, when he was the first to cross the George Washington bridge in New York City, that started him on his unique career.

Since then he has opened more bridges than you could shake a stick at: Henry Hudson bridge, lower level in 1935 and upper level in 1938; Marine Parkway bridge in New York, 1937; Tri-boro bridge, New York, 1936; Delaware Memorial bridge, 1951; Chesapeake Bay bridge, Maryland, 1952, and the Hialeah Four-lane bridge in Florida, 1951, to mention just a few of the major spans he has initiated.

THEN THERE ARE the tunnels. At 4 a. m. on Dec. 22, 1937, he was on hand to be the first through New York's Lincoln tunnel. Five years before he had been the first to use the Eighth Avenue subway in New York, and in 1949 he showed the way for the public through the Twin Rock tunnel on the Wilbur Cross parkway in Connecticut.

When the Freedom Train, which later toured the nation with a display of original copies of the Constitution, Declaration of Independence, and other basic documents, first opened its doors for a preview in New York on Sept. 25, 1947, Catan was the first to walk through it.

The new United States, pride of the nation's merchant fleet, threw down its gangplank for public visitors for the first time on June 28, 1952, and sure enough, Catan was right there!

CATAN WAS the first to dunk himself in New York City's first public swimming pool, the Hamilton Fish pool, in the summer of 1937. On Christmas Day, 1936, he put the first ice skate marks on the Rockefeller Plaza rink.

Railroads are among his specialties. He was the first to enter Newark's new station in 1947, placed the first railroad train tele-

Latest information on the production of vegetables for processing will highlight a 2-day conference of Ohio canners and fieldmen to be held in the Deshler-Hilton hotel at Columbus next Monday and Tuesday.

E. C. Wittmeyer, Ohio State University extension horticulturist, said conference speakers will include staff members of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station, the university, industry representatives and specialists from out-of-state institutions.

They will discuss these subjects: Tomato disease problems, soil testing for growers of vegetable crops for processing, grower and processor responsibilities under the new pesticide residue laws, vegetable insect control, scheduling sweet corn plantings, chemical weed control, recent information on corn insect problems and other related topics.

Fred Grimm, Ottawa county extension agent, will lead a panel discussion on soil management for canning crops.

A program feature will be the recognition of county and state winners in the Ohio Ten Tomato club at a luncheon meeting Tuesday.

The conference, sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Ohio Canners association, touches on subjects of special interest to farmers and canners in Pickaway County.

Ohio broiler producers, poultry industry representatives and county extension agents will have a chance to see what the future may hold for the broiler industry when they meet for the annual Ohio Broiler school February 22 in Plumb Hall on

Brother Too Weak For Burglary Job

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Joe and William Elbers, brothers, were on trial on charges of stealing a safe.

Joe, 34, insisted he pulled the job all by himself and demonstrated by lifting the 300-pound safe to the witness stand in Criminal Court.

"That was about the same height from the ground as the trunk of the car," Joe said.

The jury acquitted William, 42. Joe was convicted of burglary and is awaiting sentence.

Franklin PTA Will Sponsor Sale Of Goods Made By Blind

Mrs. John O'Hara, president of Franklin St. School Parent-Teachers Association, announced completion of a new program today, that not only adds funds for local charities but also provides help for local and state blind persons.

It is, as Mrs. O'Hara puts it, "the most completely charitable effort ever attempted by a service group, because it really isn't charity." Here's how it works:

The PTA Club will sponsor and quire the land from the county yesterday on an auction bid of $101,000, topping a $100,000 bid from a local real estate man. The college's first bid was for $50,000.

Today was dedication day for the land, which is part of the area surrounding the Stark County Home.

PTA Club get 40 percent of the profit from the sale of these products. Mrs. O'Hara has a crew of 30 ready to start out at 9 a. m. Feb. 20.

Housewives can profit by this sale, too — blind products are made by skilled hands which produce higher quality items at competitive prices and often much lower. It is simply a matter of legitimate merchandise, made by handicapped people who want the right to earn, sold by a group that wants to make their every effort count, she pointed out.

Mrs. O'Hara said she sincerely hopes that the local men who are devoting their faith and time to this effort will get a good response from everyone. Who knows—you or yours or someone you know may need the help of those who help actively in maintaining the policies of our local PTA Club, she added.

U. S. Finds Gold Plentiful In Gotham Canyon

Big Corporations Tote Profits, Pay Out High Sum In Federal Taxes

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Uncle Sam is striking gold these days in the canyons of New York — and it's a much richer vein than almost anyone expected even just a few weeks ago.

In their New York counting houses the nation's big corporations are totting up their gross profits for 1955. In numerous cases the results astound even those who already knew 1955 was a remarkable year.

With the federal income tax rate on corporations rising as high as 52 per cent, the U. S. treasury's share of these gross profits is impressive—and the total grows with each day's batch of corporate earnings reports.

U. S. Steel has just announced it has set aside $66 million dollars to pay Uncle Sam.

The other day Jersey Standard Oil estimated its net income after taxes would be a record 717 million dollars, a gain of 22.5 per cent over its 1954 take. A roughly similar sum will be on hand for the federal tax collector.

General Motors, yet to report, is widely expected to cross the one billion dollar net profit mark—the first such figure ever reported by an American corporation. Its tax contribution to Washington should be close to one billion dollars.

Just these three corporations alone, therefore, will be handing Uncle Sam around two billion dollars in tax money.

That's more than the President's budget allots for spending on atomic energy. It's more than he asks for guided missiles, more than he asks for building dams and developing natural resources.

Big Steel reports its earnings after taxes were a record 370 million dollars. This is by far the largest profit in the steel industry, as is to be expected from a company that does nearly one-third of the business.

But nine other steel companies—two of them among the "top ten"—report a better percentage of gain over 1954.

U. S. Steel's net profits increased 89 per cent over the 1954 figure. But nine others report their profits more than doubled during the year. The 21 iron and steel companies that have reported their 1955 results so far have a combined net profit of $990,309,426, an increase of 71 per cent over the $579,141,957 the same 21 reported on their 1954 operations.

Their combined federal tax payments can be roughly estimated at $90 million dollars.

Steel will show one of the best increases of any industry: 1. Because it made and sold a record amount of steel last year; 2. Because its 1955 operations are being compared with 1954, a year in which steel was among the industries suffering from a recession.

The good news for the U. S. Treasury doesn't stop with the annual reports that American corporations are now issuing in increasing numbers.

There is every sign that the profitable times are continuing in the early months of 1956.

Roger M. Blough, U. S. Steel

FEAR THAT RED CHINA MIGHT ABSORB PORTUGUESE MACAO DIMINISHING

By F. K. WU
Central Press Association
Correspondent

HONG KONG—Big ripples of alarm in the tiny Portuguese colony of Macao in South China churned up recently by Radio Peiping claiming that the "Chinese people have the right to demand the return of Macao" has settled down to the usual calm.

As both Lisbon and Peiping have refused to say anything on how serious the situation has developed, Ho Hsien, 47, millionaire trouble shooter of Macao, scotched all alarming rumors that the Peiping government would demand the outright restoration of Macao or that some fireworks might let loose in the Hong Kong-Macao area.

"Rumors that the Chinese Communist authorities demanded some $400 million from Macao as rent covering 400 years are, so far as I know, without foundation," said Ho in an interview with this Central Press correspondent.

"I happened to be in Canton during the early excitement. Actually the Chinese authorities objected to the Chinese in Macao participating in the 400th anniversary celebration of Macao as a Portuguese port. As all celebrations were eventually called off, the matter has come to an end."

ASKED by Central Press whether it is true that the Peiping government pressed Portugal to recognize the "Central People's government" in Peiping, Ho Hsien said from his own observation it might be possible for Peiping and Lisbon to develop diplomatic relations just as the Chinese Communists would maintain relations with any other country.

At present Minister Wang Huacheng representing the National government in Taiwan (Formosa) is stationed in Lisbon, but the Portuguese government has recalled its charge d'affaires from Taipei since late 1950. A nationalistic commissioner of foreign affairs has been accredited in Macao ever since the defeat of Japan in 1945.

Thus all fears that the Chinese Communists would "liberate" Macao have come to an end. At one time the matter appeared to be so critical that Gen. Jonathan Twining, Air chief of staff, Admiral Felix B. Stump, commander of the United States Pacific Fleet, and other high American officials were categorical enough to declare that the American Navy and Air Force stood ready to deal with Communist aggression "anywhere in Asia."

chairman, thinks the current quarter may be the best three months the steel industry has ever had. Although he expects the present pace to slacken later in the year, Blough thinks 1956 will turn out to be one of the top years for steel.

Other steel leaders have reported their own companies have orders in sight that should keep them humming at least until fall.

The cutback in auto production hasn't made a dent in the total demand for steel yet — a demand that calls for more steel than the industry has present capacity to meet quickly.

Prospects this week that a federal highway aid bill will pass Congress will add more demand for the construction products of the steel industry.

And the higher the sales volume,

Ho Hsien

Chinese observers here believe that such an American stand has scared off Peiping from exerting any further pressure on Macao and has brought about the relaxation of tension. They also give credit to Ho Hsien for smoothing over many misunderstandings between the Macao authorities and the neighboring Chinese Communist authorities, such as the shelling incident of July, 1952.

Though a man of utmost modesty and retirement, Ho admitted that he played an active part toward the settlement of the impasse, which climaxed in the death of two Chinese and injury to 29 others in Chungshan, Chinese Communist territory adjoining Macao.

WHILE AT ONE time it seemed as if the Chinese Communist troops would rush into Macao and overrun it, the matter was settled through the payment of compensation of an equivalent of $10,000 for the dead and wounded, he said.

His efforts at mediation began during 1941 and 1945 when Japanese troops occupied Hong Kong and the entire South China area, according to this trouble shooter. He gave valuable counsel to the Macao government on how to deal with the Japanese armed forces surrounding the Portuguese colony, and despite frequent frictions and serious incidents between the Portuguese and Japanese, Macao had been able to maintain its neutral position and give relief to the many refugees pouring into the port.

THE 400,000 Chinese in Macao who had been able to remain in a neutral area expressed gratitude to Ho for being able to enjoy living free from Japanese brutality which befell their unfortunate compatriots in Hong Kong and the rest of south China.

For his valuable services for maintaining the position of Macao, Ho was given a memorial medal by the government of Portugal and was invited to serve as Chinese representative in the Macao government councils—the highest honors Lisbon has conferred on a Chinese.

A frequent visitor to Hong Kong, Ho said his interest is to bring about good trade relations and solidarity between the Chinese and others in Hong Kong and Macao. He saw much benefit in this mutual interest and co-operation.

"In spite of my public services, I have no political interest or ambition," this tycoon said in giving his philosophy of life. "My interest is in trade. If, however, there is any trouble, I would like to assist in a satisfactory solution."

"I AM concerned principally in the welfare of mankind," Ho said. "If there is anything I might contribute in that direction I would do it without the slightest hesitation regardless of magnitude and risks."

"I have extensive business interests in Hong Kong and Macao, but I have spent large sums of money in educational and charitable work in Macao and Hong Kong. I am glad to say persons who are ill are given free treatment until recovery. Those who die are given free burial. "Education of youths is also my chief concern. I serve as director, trustee and president of over 10 high schools in Macao and bestow subsidies to 5,000 students."

Ho has many friends and critics. Those approached by this correspondent nevertheless agree that his public interest gains him further recognition, especially his efforts to keep Macao as a free port in this part of the world.

Located on the southern tip of Chungshan county 40 miles west of Hong Kong, Macao has been a gift by China to Portugal for 400 years as a reward for the Portuguese assistance in suppressing piracy. Its population are mostly Chinese.

Truman Reports He's A Has-Been

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says he doesn't want to run for any kind of political office again, much less the presidency. He said:

"I'm just a retired has-been." He was asked about the possibility that he might be drafted if the Democratic National Convention should deadlock on a presidential nominee this year.

For an answer, Truman reminded reporters of what Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman once said: If nominated he would not run, and if elected he would not serve.

"The presidency is a killing job and a man must be young enough and vigorous enough to meet that situation," he said, adding that the office "has killed many a man—I could name a half dozen."

State Bank Chief Tells Of Growth

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state superintendent of banks said today resources of Ohio's 397 state and private banks hit an all-time high of $5,853,640,782 in 1955.

The superintendent, Paul Hinkle, said the figure represents an increase of $309,629,900 over that reported Dec. 31, 1954.

During 1955, Hinkle said, deposits increased from $5,047,346,690 to $5,336,462,950. Capital accounts went up from $356,319,638 to $375,563,979 through earnings and sale of new stock during the period.

2 East Germany Fliers Flee West

BRUNSWICK, Germany (AP)—Two airmen of Communist East Germany's fledgling air force fled into West Germany here yesterday.

Border police said they are believed to be the first military deserters since the eastern government turned its "people's police force" into an army, navy and air force two weeks ago.

New Drugs Soothe Patients In Ohio Mental Hospitals

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two new drugs are soothing hundreds of violent patients in Ohio's state mental hospitals, doctors reported today.

Popularly known as tranquilizing drugs, they are reserpine and chlorpromazine.

Recently 22 superintendents of Ohio mental hospitals reported results from the first full year's use of the two new medicines.

In an interview with the Cleveland News' medical writer, Severino P. Severino, Dr. John D. Porterfield, chief of the state's mental hygiene department, was enthusiastic about what the twin drugs are accomplishing. Among the benefits, he cited:

1. For the first time in years, more patients are being discharged from Ohio's mental hospitals than are being admitted.

2. Violence in mental hospitals has been virtually eliminated and disturbed patient wards are vanishing.

3. Electric and insulin shock treatments have been cut far below their former level.

Porterfield said he could compile a statistical analysis of the reports from superintendents before April 1. He noted that the drugs still are in the research stage and that their use in the state's program still is limited. His department buys $25,000 worth of drugs each month, and the budget does not permit giving them to more than a small part of the patient population, he said.

Most patients take the drugs by mouth, but some in disturbed condition are given injections by needle.

In Cleveland, about 1,000 patients are on one or the other of the tranquilizing medicines and at Columbus State Hospital 400 of the 2,700 patients are being treated with them.

Dr. Marlin R. Wedemeyer, superintendent at Columbus, said 980 patients were discharged there last year, while 810 were admitted. That trend, he said, holds for other state institutions, although complete statewide figures have not yet been compiled.

Before the tranquilizers were used, Dr. Wedemeyer said, 200 patients a day were given shock therapy and an additional 35 daily had insulin shock. Now, he added, insulin shock has not been used for six months and only 25 patients a day get shock therapy.

The drugs themselves do not remove the ideas which cause homicidal and suicidal tendencies or inspire delusions of persecution, Dr. Wedemeyer pointed out. "The patient simply does not feel the compulsion to do something about those ideas," he explained.

Dr. Edward Hinko, director of the state receiving hospital in Cleveland, had this to say:

"We have no such thing as a disturbed ward anymore. Violent patients were a continual problem of behavior and management. Now the problem has vanished except for the first few days when a new patient is admitted."

The number of patients permitted to return home on trial visits has been doubled at Cleveland State Hospital, said the director there, Dr. William L. Gover.

Last Complete Set Of Tilts Scheduled

League's Runnerup Slot, Prize Of Jackson-Monroe Cage Battle

The last complete set of County League basketball games is scheduled for Friday night.

After the Friday night tilts, only two postponed league games, Pickaway at Scioto and Darby at New Holland, will have to be played as well as several non-league battles.

Two tilts hold the spotlight in Friday night's action.

Second place in the league will be decided when Jackson takes its 7-2 league mark to Monroe which has an identical league record.

For the season, the Indians boast a 12-2 state while the Wildcats of Jackson show 10-5 for the year.

AS FAR AS league scoring power and defensive ability is concerned, the two teams are almost equally matched. Jackson has found the range for 613 points, for a 68-point game average. Monroe has poured through 550 points or almost 66 points per tilt.

In the defensive department, Monroe has held opponents to 533 tallies or 59 per game while Jackson has allowed the opposition 550 marks for a 61-point per contest average.

Both teams are expected to be "up" for this battle, which should be a thriller all the way.

The other headline attraction is the contest between unbeaten Ashville and Darby. The rugged Broncos, winners of 14 games, will be playing their last game of the regular season in the Darby stronghold and they'll be fighting hard to finish their season with a clean mark.

Darby's Trojans, although beaten 65-53 by West Jefferson last Tuesday, have been improving with the season and they'll definitely be out to become the first team to hand Ashville the short end of a cage score.

COACH BOONE Arnett's eagles are all even, 4-4, in the league, and show a 7-9 overall mark.

The much-improved Bulldogs of Scioto will try to up their 5-3 league slate when they play the slumping Bulldogs at New Holland. The Bulldogs stand 3-5 in league competition and show a 6-8 overall mark. Scioto has won ten of 15 games for the year.

The last league game won by New Holland was Dec. 16 when the Bulldogs downed Atlanta, 62-58. That same night, Scioto recorded its last league loss, dropping a 66-58 decision to Darby.

Very little will be decided when Williamsport travels to Atlanta. The Deers are sporting a 1-8 league slate compared to Atlanta's 4-5. Williamsport is 1-12 for this year and the Red Raiders are 6-11 for the season.

All eyes probably will be on Williamsport's Gene Stonerock as this will be his last league contest of the year. He holds a 19-point edge over Scioto's Delbert Neff in the league scoring race.

HOWEVER, Neff has two games to play yet and has a good chance of overtaking Stonerock.

The Pickaway Pirates will be trying to get back into the win circle when they host Salter Creek. The Pirates show a 3-5 league mark and 5-9 for the year.

Salter Creek, a 76-75 winner over New Holland last Friday is 3-6 in the league and 3-10 for the year.

Walnut, having completed its league schedule, has the bye.

Huge Crowd Expected On Friday When CHS Takes On Blue Lions

Circleville's Tigers can accomplish two important tasks when they take on the Blue Lions of Washington C. H. in an SCOL battle Friday night in the new E. Mill St. gym.

First, a win by the Tigers would knock WCH down a peg from the SCOL title race. The Blue Lions are breathing hard on the neck of Wilmington. The Hurricanes lead the league with a 5-1 mark, while the Blue Lions have a 4-1 record.

Second, a victory by CHS's varsity would avenge an earlier loss. On Dec. 16, Washington C. H. handed the Tigers their first loss of the season by a 55 to 43 score.

A huge crowd is expected to be on hand to witness the traditional contest between these two rivals. This season's attendance may set a record unequalled in many years, according to faculty manager Tom Bennett. In seven home games, he reported, the average student attendance has been more than 232 per contest, with adults averaging 167.

ALTHOUGH a total average attendance of nearly 400 per game will set a mark, it apparently only nicks the surface. The gym has a total capacity of more than 2,000. Bennett said he expects Friday night's contest to set a new record.

Circleville's red hot reserves, the Kittens, will be out to prolong their unblemished record. They have topped 11 opponents in a row so far this season without a defeat. However, few of these battles have come without a fight.

In the last several games, the Kittens have had to come from behind to earn their victory. WCH's reserves gave the Kittens a real scare in their last outing. CHS had a 12-point lead in the first period, only to fizzle it away to a point where WCH led 48-46 in the fourth quarter. The Kittens finally pulled the game out of the fire in the closing minutes.

The Tigers will have their hands full with the visiting Blue Lions. WCH, second to Wilmington in league standings, boasts the best overall record. The Blue Lions have lost only two times in 10 games; the Hurricanes are 10-4 and CHS is 8-5.

Washington C. H. will be fresh off a victory after having been idle nearly two weeks. The Blue Lions topped Hillsboro 47-40 on Tuesday.

FOR COMPARISON, CHS dumped the Indians 60 to 40 on Jan. 6 here. However, the Indians were hampered by an amazing streak of bad luck in shooting; they were only able to sink three points in the first nine minutes of play. Many of their shots would hit the basket or backboard and then bounce out.

David Lee, WCH's lanky center, continues to be the spark plug for the Blue Lions. The Tigers found him to be a lot of trouble in their first outing.

Action should be fast and furious.

Using Only One Regular, Dayton Coasts To Easy Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With four of its starters sitting on the bench, second-ranked Dayton coasted to an easy, lopsided 75-37 basketball victory over Loyola of Chicago last night.

Sophomore guard Arlen Bockhorn was the only regular to see action and his four points lagged far behind the 16 apiece chalked up by second-stringers Al Sicking and Don Lane.

Sicking, who subbed for center Bill Uhl, pulled down 25 rebounds, one short of the Flyers' individual game record held by Uhl.

Regulars Uhl, Jim Paxson, Jim Palmer and Ray Dieringer told Coach Tom Blackburn they would stay on the bench unless needed. And that need never arose as the Flyers romped to their 15th win in 16 starts.

In other Ohio college action, Otterbein, Ohio Wesleyan and Mount Union scored Ohio Conference victories. Findlay pulled out a squeaker over Lawrence Tech and Adrian (Mich.) handed Defiance its first loss after 18 straight wins.

Otterbein knocked off Heidelberg, 87-79, with Jerry Wirth and Maynard Goare chipping in with 22 and 22, respectively. It was Otterbein's fourth win in seven conference starts, and Heidelberg's sixth loss in eight loop affairs.

Ohio Wesleyan's Bishops polished off Marietta, 87-69, with center Leigh Stockstill leading the way with 30. In conference standings, the Bishops now are 3-4, the Pioneers 2-2.

Jim Walton and Bruce Pumfrey each scored 21 to help Mount Union end a three-game losing streak. The winners plastered Oberlin, 81-59.

Findlay's Oilers (7-6) rallied against Lawrence Tech of Detroit in a 96-95 tiff. Forward Connie Walcutt sunk a field goal in the last 13 seconds to decide the struggle.

Defiance bowed to Adrian College, 82-77, despite a 24-point performance from forward Bill Pace.

Defiance took an early 23-17 lead but by halftime were behind 42-37. Kent State led all the way to post a 97-90 victory over Western Michigan in a Mid-American Conference tilt. Guard Jim Gorsline paced Kent with 28.

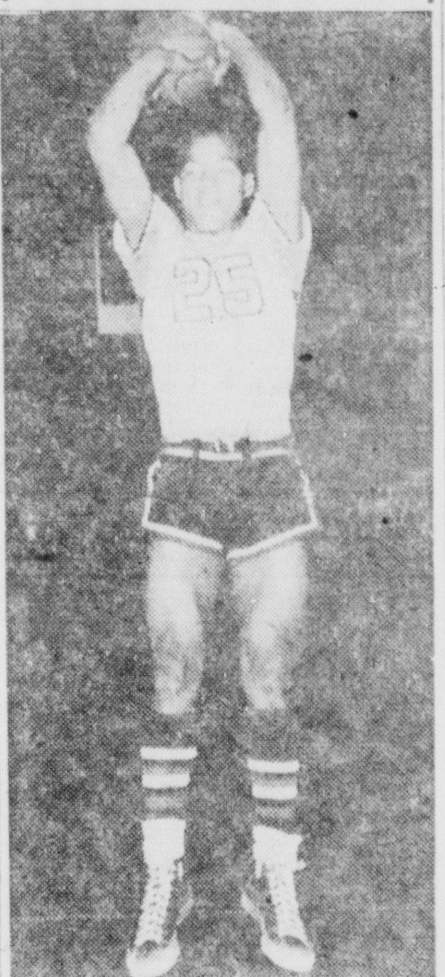

Out-of-state, Steubenville defeated Le Moyne of New York, 80-56, and Akron edged out Juniata of Pennsylvania, 84-78, in overtime.

Pro Grid League Expansion Studied

PHILADELPHIA — Expansion from 12 to 14 teams in a "definite part" of the future of the National Football League, commissioner Bert Bell said yesterday.

Miami and Buffalo were named as possible league cities of the future. "There is nothing immediate about this thing," Bell said and emphasized that there was no team in the league now which contemplated moving its franchise.

Meet The Team

Ralph Jones
INTRODUCING No. 25... starting right forward. "Tiger" is a senior... 6' tall but can out jump many taller boys. Does not make too many points but is a demon under the basket and on rebounds. Total effectiveness slightly hampered because he has to wear glasses during game.

Carter Calm After Defeat By Andrade

CHICAGO — There was no bitterness in Jimmy Carter's dressing room in Chicago Stadium last night.

He had just lost a close official decision to Cisco Andrade, 26, a nifty little fighter from Compton, Calif., who has been beaten only twice in 35 bouts.

Carter, sitting relaxed on a bench in his quarters, spoke like the champion he once was. Three times he has won the lightweight crown and three times he has lost. "There's no sense getting mad—you can't change a decision," he said quietly. "Andrade is a good fast boy. I've always been known as a slow starter. I thought I had him from the sixth on. I worked him over well in the fourth. When I went down in that round it was definitely a slip."

In most cases, a fighter who has dropped such a decision would be harping about it plenty. Carter took it like a gentleman.

Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, told Carter his 100th bout was one of his best and indicated he was entitled to a rematch.

Andrade was the official winner as Judge E. A. Frankel and Referee Joe White scored in his favor 95-94 and 96-93 respectively. Judge Lou Capparelli favored Carter 97-95.

Robinson, Olson Sign For Rematch

HOLLYWOOD — Promoter Jackie Leonard of the Hollywood Legion Stadium has announced the signing of middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson and Bobo Olson for a rematch April 27.

He said the fight would be held at Wrigley Field in Los Angeles or Gilmore Field in Hollywood.

Robinson has accepted an estimated $75,000 or 30 per cent of the gate and national TV receipts.

Olson, knocked out in the second round by Robinson last Dec. 9 in Chicago, would be reimbursed by 30 per cent of the gate, but with a guarantee of any sum.

CLEVELAND — The Cleveland Browns announced today that three of the professional football club's 1955 draft choices who completed their college eligibility last season have signed contracts.

They are halfback Ernie Lindo of College of Pacific, center Don Fife of Purdue University and tackle Fred Robinson of the University of Washington. Fife and Robinson already have completed their tours of military duty.

Cardinals Appear Loaded With Fine Rookies This Year

Editor's Note: Following is another in a series of articles dealing with the 1956 major league rookie baseball crop.

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK — The St. Louis Cardinals, who appear to have a corner on the "rookie-of-the-year" market, should have more than one candidate for the 1956 award if the boys live up to their press notices.

In 1954, the Cards' Wally Moon was voted the National League's outstanding rookie. Last year it was Bill Virdon with his Redbird teammate Ken Boyer not far behind.

Coming to the Cards' training camp this spring will be a batch of youngsters including second baseman Don Glasingame, the American Assns rookie-of-the-year; outfielder Jackie Brandt, the international League's rookie-of-the-year; outfielder Russell Rac, the Texas League's outstanding rookie; and outfielder Gene Green, top first year man of the Three-Eye League.

Most of the other Cardinal newcomers have been up before although shortstop Eddie Kasko and pitchers Harry Hoitsma, Bob Mabe and Billy Muffett will have their first fling in big league company. Hoitsma, with a 13-3 record at Houston, may be just the relief pitcher manager Freddie Hutchinson is looking for. He worked in 56 games, most of them in relief. Mabe, 26, was 16-10 at Houston. Muffett, 25, was drafted from Shreveport where he had a 10-4 record. Kasko was purchased from Richmond where he batted .267.

Blasingame, 23, a former shortstop, was switched to second base by Eddie Stanky who was looking forward to the time Red Schoendienst will have to be replaced. A .303 hitter at Omaha, an excellent fielder and double play pivot man, the scrappy youngster may become a factor in the battle for Third or Short if, as is likely, he fails to dislodge the talented Schoendienst.

Brandt, 21-year-old flycatcher, batted .305 at Rochester, belted 38 doubles, 12 triples, 12 homers and drove in 68 runs.

Rac, at Houston last year, batted .312, smashed 21 homers and drove in 98 runs. Green whacked 22 homers and drove in 92 runs on a .315 batting average in 104 games with Peoria.

The Cards are convinced they pulled a 10-strike with the purchase of Ben Flowers, 28-year-old right

Only 'Rough' Fish May Be Speared

In answer to several inquiries, here is the regulation governing ice fishing:

Carp, quillback, suckers, dogfish, garfish, buffalofish, gizzard shad and goldfish may be caught by any means except by the use of explosives, poisons, firearms, electricity, chemicals, nets, seines and traps. In other words, "rough" fish may be caught by spear.

Other fish, such as bass, trout, etc., can only be caught by angling and trot lines.

At average prices, the saving comes to 44¢ an hour. With you, it might be less, it might be more—a saving of two-thirds the fuel cost is not unusual.

Size? Name it! Oliver—and only Oliver—offers you dollar-saving diesel power in six wheel tractor sizes. And remember, your Oliver diesel requires no extra engine for starting. No special fuel. Just step on the starter and go to work.

Dr. H. Swope Again Chairman Of County's Heart Fund Drive

Local Physician Repeats Role Played In 1955

Door-To-Door Drive Being Scheduled For 3 Communities

Dr. H. H. Swope, Circleville physician, will again serve as chairman of the 1956 Heart Fund Drive in Pickaway County. The campaign started Wednesday and will continue through Feb. 29.

In heading the campaign, Dr. Swope will repeat his 1955 role. He is president of the Pickaway Heart Council and holds memberships in the following organizations: Pickaway County Medical Society, the Ohio State Medical Society, the Society of General Practitioners, and the Elks, Masons and Rotary Clubs. He is married and the father of three children.

C. O. Leist will act as treasurer for the drive. The mailing committee consists of: Mrs. Hoyt Timmons, Mrs. Jack Clark and Leist.

Miss Ruth Montelius is publicity chairman. Mrs. Kenneth Robins will head the Heart Sunday campaign in Circleville; Mrs. Clark will be chairman of the drive in Williamsport; and Mrs. Harry Sark will have charge of the campaign in Ashville.

HEART SUNDAY will be on Feb. 26. A door-to-door campaign will be held in Circleville, Ashville and Williamsport, the first time for the latter two. The rest of the county will be contacted by mail. Films on heart diseases are available. Those wishing to show these educational movies should contact Miss Montelius.

Most of the money collected from the fund raising drive will be used for research. Approximately 75 percent of the total collections will remain in the central Ohio area to be used not only for research but also education and community heart program, according to Dr. Swope. Since it became a national health agency in 1949, the Central Ohio Heart Association has contributed more than $200,000 for research at Ohio State University and local hospitals. Dr. Swope pointed out. A similar amount went to the American Heart Association for the national research program, he added.

The Association support two fellowships in cardiology, two scholarships, conducts post-

792 Tax Measures OK'd By Ohioans At Polls During 1955

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio voters last year approved 201 school bond issues and 591 special school operating levies, the Ohio State University Bureau of Educational Research reported today after a survey.

The approved bond issues called for the expenditure of $12,216,000 for school construction—$68,685,000 in cities, $10,039,000 in exempted village school districts and $44,492,000 in local school districts.

The city total is the highest in the 20 years the OSU bureau has kept such records. The exempted village total is only slightly below the 1954 all-time record. The local district total also is the second highest on record.

In the operating levy category, city voters approved 70 of 73 submitted, exempted village voters rejected only one of 41 and local district voters approved 481 of 491.

Hamilton Mayor Deadlock Holds

HAMILTON (AP) — The Hamilton city council gave up after one roll-call last night and the deadlock continued over election of a mayor.

There was a lot of oratory but when the vote was taken there were three votes for Edward Beckett, two for Jack Blumenthal and one for Robert Bartels. Councilman Herbert Mick did not vote.

As a result, Bartels, a freshman member of the council who has said he does not want the mayor's job permanently, continued today as acting mayor.

Mick, pleading for an end to the factional dispute, declared, "in my opinion we have carried this farce far enough. We have become the laughing stock of our neighboring communities."

Planes Counted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio has 2836 civilian airplanes and ranks fifth among states in this category, the Civil Aeronautics Administration said yesterday.

graduate training for local physicians as well as providing latest medical information through lecture and films Dr. Swope added. "Funds for these programs are derived solely from the yearly Heart Fund campaigns," he explained. "The Heart Fund also supports educational programs to broaden public understanding of the heart problem and to see that the latest methods of treatment are made known to local doctors."

Winning War By Pushbutton Labeled 'Dangerous Myth'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Army Wilber Brucker declares "the notion that wars can be fought and won by remote control with machines and pushbuttons is a dangerous myth."

He told the National Press Club: "We have properly decided to develop to the utmost our retaliatory power to deter an enemy from attempting a sudden and overwhelming assault with airborne nuclear weapons."

He also said that "an aggressive enemy who possesses huge ground forces," should be expected to use them.

The mission of the American army is to wage prompt, sustained and successful combat operations on land, seize ground and dominate the enemy and his means of making war, Brucker said, then added:

"There is nothing that has occurred so far which has made accomplishment of this mission less important than it has been in the past."

Brucker said that the Army strength is being stabilized at about 1,034,500 men. Then, in apparent reply to recent criticisms of Army cutbacks from Gen. Matthew Ridgway, former Army chief of staff, Brucker said:

"We feel that a highly mobile source of 1,034,500 men, equipped as it is with the best weapons, both atomic and non-atomic, which American science can devise and American industry can produce, is sufficiently large under existing circumstances to afford us the proper margin of safety."

"It is absolutely imperative, however, that it be capable of immediate and tremendous expansion in the event of war. A very substantial reserve source organized, trained, and equipped, which can be ready to fight with a minimum of delay, is essential to our security."
